

WE NOMINATE

Charles Freeman Williams McClure, whose extraordinary career as an educator, research scientist and advocate of the strenuous way of life was accentuated this week by the announcement of the Explorers Club of New York that it is celebrating its 50th anniversary by honoring two of the men who reached the North Pole with Robert Peary on April 6, 1909. Some ten years earlier McClure, now in his 90th year, and several of his Princeton colleagues had been closely identified with Peary's first Arctic explorations, serving as members of the "Relief Expedition of 1899" that restocked the explorer's Greenland bases and upon its return provided a radio-less world with the first news of heroic prabings into what was then considered "outer space."

The 1899 expedition, a brief interlude in his 44 years as an active member of the Princeton University Faculty, was characteristic of McClure's approach to his field of special interest, the comparative anatomy of vertebrates, for it enabled him to collect previously unobtainable specimens of marine and land fauna. To assist in his teaching and research, which benefited generations of pre-medical students, he gave years to the development of Princeton's Museum of Comparative Anatomy, one of the finest collections of its kind, and was in frequent contact with explorers, animal dealers, hunters, circusmen and even with shipmasters charged with transporting wild animals to zoos and commercial menageries in this country.

A native of Cambridge, Mass., and the only son of a Forty-Niner, who was a mining pioneer in Virginia City, Nev., and later the first man to take gold mining machinery into Nova Scotia, McClure for reasons of health was a cook and sheepherder in Texas before he completed his secondary education. At 18 he entered Phillips Exeter Academy with every intention of entering Harvard, "switched" to Princeton and, according to a classmate's reminiscences, determined his life's work during his Princeton junior year on the flip of a coin that permitted him to elect a "course in physiological psychology instead of one in science and religion."

Graduation with the Class of 1888 was followed by a year of study on a Princeton fellowship, then a year in New York City's College of Physicians and Surgeons. Health again dictated changes and it was in 1891 while McClure was in California that his former Princeton teacher, Henry Fairfield Osborn, after accepting a call to Columbia and the American Museum of Natural History, asked him to take over here. The die was cast and McClure, the recipient of a Columbia honorary degree in 1908, advanced rapidly to a full professorship. A member of American and foreign learned societies, and a past president of the American Association of Anatomists, he reached retirement age in 1933 but by special request of the Board of Trustees carried on as a lecturer for another two years, finally assuming the rank of professor emeritus in 1935.

For his rare ability to inoculate others with his own enthusiasm for extending the frontiers of man's knowledge; for his outstanding contributions as a teacher-scholar in the biological sciences; for his abiding devotion to the Princeton community; he is Town Topics' nominee for

New Plea for Library. Another voice was raised this week on the question of demolition plans for Princeton Theological Seminary's Lenox Library. As reported in the last issue, the building at the corner of Mercer Street and Library Place will be torn down shortly to make way for the $1,500,000 Robert Speer Memorial Library.

Richard Stillwell of the University's Department of Art and Archaeology, urged "proper appreciation of our inheritance," suggesting a better fate for the 90-year old structure. To this is added the following letter from Alfred H. Bill of 21 Westcott Road, well-known author and historian:

To the Editor of Town Topics:
An Episcopalian, a Yale man and a resident of Princeton for a mere 20 years can hardly claim the right to protest against the proposed demolition of Lenox Hall, the Theological Seminary

Library. But as a lover of Princeton's beauties, both natural and architectural, and a student of some of its antiquities, I beg to voice a humble remonstrance against what would result in the loss of one of our loveliest buildings—and more than that.

Nassau Hall, to be sure, is older by more than 80 years. Moved by a century and a half. But the unknown architect of Lenox Hall caught the spirit of a time still earlier than theirs: something of the solemn grace of Melrose Abbey, still more of the dignity and faith of the Westminster Confession, which has been so truly described as "containing, not a piece, but a mould the high qualities of religious insight and courage and perseverance which have honorably distinguished Scottish Presbyterians the world over."

Few can look upon it, no matter how often, without being refreshed and strengthened by its sermon in stone: its message that true godliness is beautiful and confident.

It would be sadly missed. Is there no way of saving it?

ALFRED H. BILL

In and Out. Political developments during the past week sketched a clear picture of a revolving door: candidates hurrying into the arena were in equal evidence with those hurrying out.

There were two principal withdrawals. The more important of the pair was that of Senator Robert C. Hendrickson, Republican incumbent, whose unimpressive record in Congress had been cause for comment within his own party that he was not a strong possibility for re-election. His departure from the 1951 race is considered to make virtually certain the nomination of former Representative Clifford R. Case of Rahway, whose lone opponent now is former State Treasurer Walter T. Margetts, Jr. of Passaic.

Primary opposition faded away completely for Representative Charles R. Howell, who had organization backing in the Democratic party. Salvatore A. Bontempo, a city commissioner in Newark, filed for U.S. Senator last week but withdrew almost immediately "following a brief conference with Governor Meyner."

Into the gap created by the decision of Congressman Howell to seek the higher seat in Washington rushed no less than five Democrats, each bolstered by the knowledge that the district has been consistently anti-Republican in the last three elections. Petitions were filed by William H. Falecy and Joseph S. Holland, freeholders; Assemblyman Frank Thompson; Simon J. Falecy, county probation officer; and Anthony J. Salamandra, Trenton attorney. One or more withdrawals before Wednesday midnight was expected to clarify the picture to some degree.

 Mail from all parts of the world comes regularly to Dr.
 Albert Einstein of 112 Mercer Street, whose 74th birthday on Sunday was widely noted in the press. Most of it is properly addressed, but on occasion his name comes into the picture.
 One letter, intended for him, was sent from India to the "The World's Greatest Man, U.S.A."
 At the post of entry in New York, a mail clerk had written across the envelope, "Princeton, N. J." At the post office here, the letter was promptly routed to 112 Mercer Street.

Township (between Bertrand L.
 Gulick, Jr. and Ralph S. Mason), two races will be staged for an county committee within G.O.P. ranks.
 One involves Mr. Gulick and Mr.
 Mason in the fourth district, the other finds Fred J. Gifford seeking the position held in the first district by Arthur Fisher.

Second Church to Expand. The members of the Second Presbyterian Church have authorized a drive to raise $95,000 to finance the building of an addition to the present structure to house a Sunday School and youth activities.
 The expansion is being undertaken because of the rapid increase in the Sunday School enrollment and growing community needs.

Morris Maple has been chosen to serve as general chairman of the convass. A Loyalty Dinner will be held on Saturday, March 27, at Princeton Theological Seminary to launch the campaign.

Committee heads include James
 A. Rowan, initial gifts; Louis M.
 Sherman, special gifts; Robert D.
 McElvira, convass; George W.
 Conover, loans; Thomas A. Craig, publications; Mrs. M. Starr Northrup, hostesses; Mrs. Mc-

 Lavonia Stewart, treasurer.

Other members of the committee are Ralph D. Hult, Harold M.

 Lionel V. Silvester, Jim S. War-

Burglar Suspects Caught. Burough and Township police were on the watch last week for evidence that would solve an attempted safe-cracking job at the Princeton-Kingston Road. Early Sunday morning they found it:
 an electric drill and hammer taken from the Institute and left on the back seat of a car parked illegally on Mercer Street.

Arraigned on separate charges of possession of burglar tools, breaking and entering, and larceny, Cornelius E. Cavanaugh, 23, Berrian Avenue, Princeton Junction, has been held for action by the Mercer County grand jury.
 A juvenile whose name was withheld was arrested with him for aiding in the attempt, which Paul C. Alford, Jr., of the Textile Research Institute said proved fruitless.

Taste Treat. Almost everyone belongs in some degree to the world-wide tribe of candy-lovers. Tribe members in Princeton are in for a new treat: Thorne's Drug Store at 168 Nassau has just been named the exclusive distributor of Russell Stover candies.

Selections range from butter-rich assorted chocolates, home-fashioned favorites and delicious chocolate creams at $1.25 a pound to chocolate dipped Pecan Delights. The latter are 90 cents for 10 ounces and $1.45 a pound.

The wide variety of centers include caramels, fruit, nut, crisp and chewy pieces. They're always extra fresh, too: a completely new shipment is received at Thorne's each Monday.

Author! Author! Someone once said that, out of every three Princeton residents, two have written a book. At the moment, the writer who concerns us is David Dodge who, according to the blurb on his latest book-jacket, is a resident of Princeton (Princeton-Kingston Road) "at intervals."

Mr. Dodge has two new offerings for his public this spring. The first, and already the best-known, is the 1954 revised edition of "Poor Man's Guide to Europe," a fat bargain for $2.95. The Princeton Book Mart, 11 Palmer Square West, has it with Mr. Dodge's autograph on the fly-leaf.

The second Dodge is a novel called "Lights of Skaro," an adventure-pursuit tale laid in the Balkans and fruity with intrigue. It's $3 - no autograph.

Appleton-Century is publishing on March 22 an Encyclopedia of Names, three volumes, based on the names that have made news "from the dawn of history," as it says in the prospectus. The publishing house is offering it now at a pre-publication price of $34.50. After March 22 you'll pay $39.50. The Book Mart will write down your order.

In the back part of the Mart, we found some toys to keep the children happy while you read about names that made history. Hoppity the Make-It-Yourself bunny is a paper concoction almost four feet tall that you can assemble—it says on the box—in ten minutes. Use him Easter morning, sit him on an adult party table or adopt him as the family pet. He only costs $1.

If the cowboy phase has worn a little thin in your family, expose your cowhand to a pirate gun set. This gun is a real pirate pistol, double-barrelled. Cock it and pop it off twice, once from each of two triggers. Holster is real leather festooned with skulls and such, the belt has crossbones to match. You provide your own peg-leg. The set is $3.

An easier way to amass treasure might be through the game of Rich Uncle. Designed for anybody over 12, this game plays the stock market in wild and reckless fashion. For $3.50.

And speaking of games, The Book Mart has received from the Scrabble people a yearly quota: eight dozen games in April, eight in May, eight in June. After these are gone there will be no more until next year. The Mart cannot take any more reservations, but they suggest that you stop in during Scrabble season and pick up what you can.

The Mart has enlarged its stamp department, and has engaged an expert philatelist to be its buyer. We found unusual stamps like a triangular butterfly one, and a wide variety of envelopes from all countries.

A Walkie-Talkie for $5.95 has 50 feet of wire and works on batteries with voices amplified. Has an electro-magnetic sound powered earphone and battery hoisted mike. Lots of adult uses besides the ones that boys dream up.

Let It Rain. Every time we look at sleeveless cottons, it's pouring rain outside. We were glad, therefore, to visit Bailey's, 14 Witherspoon, and find a raincoat waiting for us. It's corduroy, lined with a taffeta-like fabric that contrasts sharply with the outside. For example, a brilliant turquoise coat has a deep rose lining. A tangerine coat is lined with navy print.

Hat goes along, designed in a pixie style with gold ring that shapes it to any head. Sleeves can be three-quarter or long and the price is $17.95.

The sleeveless cottons Mr. Bailey has to offer are two-piece, with softly pleated skirt and small round or pointed collar. Comes in prints (dull red strawberries on beige), stripe or plain (soft pink with candy-striped blouse.) With each set goes a pair of gloves, print or stripe on the back, plain white cotton on the palms. The prices are $9.85 for plain, $11.85 for the prints—a trim little summer outfit.

Ship 'n' Shore now has jacquards of Egyptian cotton, sleeveless with pointed collars, for only $2.98. Knit short-sleeved shirts are white with navy and red bands, or diamond-shaped basket weave with dolman sleeve and knit floral design down the front. These are $2.98, also.

Knee-length hose in the Bailey shop have non-slip tops—something called "Anchorlastic" for $1.29. Standard-length hose in 60 gauge, 12 denier, have three stripes at the top that tell you what colors go best with the stocking shade. These are only $1.

Dark, heavy seersucker plaids make good summer skirts, cool in their widely pleated folds. For only $5.98.

Enameled Elegance. The new Nekrassoff accessories at The Cummins Shop, 96 Nassau, are exquisitely made, formal, and lovely. Round ashtray, silent butler and divided cigarette box are enamel on copper, the metal barely visible as a fine border.

You may choose between black and a deep mahogany, each with Township Chief Gustave Eisenmann said that Cavanaugh "sized up the job" while making a delivery to the Institute last week as a truck driver. His car was spotted near 55 Mercer Street early Sunday morning by borough police, who tagged it for all-night parking and found the drill and hammer.

Drivers Fined. Charges ranging from operating a car whose out-of-state plates have expired to reckless and drunken driving were brought against nearly 30 persons in police court Tuesday. Magistrate Paul R. Chesebro fined a resident of Pittstown a total of $245 for driving while intoxicated and failing to have a New Jersey license.

James B. Nash, Jr. 40 Patton Avenue, was fined $55 and had his license revoked for two months following a charge of reckless driving. A Trenton resident paid $75 and lost his license for six months for "racing on Stockton Street and failing to obey an officer's signal."

Fines of $7 each for speeding were given to Barklie Henry, Packler Road, and Mrs. Mary P. Jackson, Princeton Pike. Charged with using expired license plates and paying $8 each were Mrs. Mildred Goldherger, 39 University Place; Mrs. Doris Pidgeon, Harris Road; Lt. E. F. Gibbons, 80 Spruce Street; John S. Stayer, Coventry Farm; and Keith Dearborn, R. D. 3.

Mrs. Minerva Jones, 248 John Street, was given a suspended $10 fine and ordered to pay $5 costs of court for placing garbage in a cardboard box in such a manner than it became scattered. Magistrate Chesebro, pointing out that failure to wrap garbage properly for collection has caused an increasing health menace to the community, warned that future offenders will be dealt with severely.

Drive Progresses. About 60% of the Princeton Red Cross chapter goal of $39,065 has been raised, it was revealed in a progress report this week by Harold E. Zarker, drive chairman. Mr. Zarker, who is vice-president of the Princeton Bank and Trust Company, said that $23,800 is at hand.

Chairmen of various divisions have listed these totals against the quotas assigned: Edward H. Carnarius, advance gifts, $9,190 of $12,920; Clyde D. Deitzler, business division, $2,205 against $3,605; H. Stewart Peyton, special groups, $976 (no quota listed); Arthur R. Wengel, house-to-house canvass, $11,500 against $12,920. Assisting Mrs. Wengel were four co-chairmen: Mrs. H. H. Jay, Mrs. Herryman Maurer, Mrs. Clarence Spencer and Mrs. Oscar Sussman.

Some 400 volunteers, directed by 39 division captains, are continuing their efforts to see those who were not at home when the general canvass was made on Sunday, March 7. It has been asked that anyone who has not yet been contacted send his contribution to the Red Cross, 71 University Place.

Fashion Show Wednesday. The annual St. Paul's fashion show will be held Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. in McCarter Theatre, with a program of music and entertainment planned to accompany the modeling of spring clothes.

The show is under the direction of Ted Doyle, while Mrs. John F. Delaney and Mrs. Thomas L. Brophy are serving as co-chairmen for the production. Charles Schultz, a star of the Princeton Triangle Show for the past three

Man Bites Dog? No—But This Is Just As Sensational

Tuesday of last week Shelton Motor Company Inc. had a long distance call from Mr. Thomas Lewis of Beaufort, North Carolina.
Mr. Lewis stated he would like to purchase a new Plymouth Suburban.

It developed during the conversation that when Mr. Lewis' family heard that he intended buying his first new car that they contacted him and advised that he be sure and buy the car from Shelton Motor Co.

Mr. Lewis has never lived in Princeton but is the brother of Mrs. Winifred Gatto, formerly of Princeton Junction, now of New York. Since 1949 this is the eighth car the Shelton Motor Company has sold to members of the Lewis family which includes his parents, his sister, Mrs. Gatto, and an older brother.

Mr. Lewis arrived in Princeton last Thursday morning to take delivery of his new car. During his short stay we were proudly introducing him to our customers and friends, and having him repeat the story of his family's regard for our company and his riding all night on a bus so that he, too, might take delivery of his new Plymouth in Princeton.

TO SAY THIS PLEASES US,
NATURALLY is putting it mildly when you are reminded that you have such wonderful customers.
Try us, and see what you think of our organization and the products we sell.

Traffic Safety

A problem of considerable concern to Princeton University and Princeton Country Day School has been at least temporarily solved with the stationing of a deputy policeman at the heavily-traveled intersection of College and Washington Roads. He is on duty there five days a week from 8 to 8:50 in the morning and again in the afternoon from 3:15 to 5.

The cross-roads has long been felt to be a danger spot because of the steep grade on Washington Road and the fact that a large tree blocks the vision of drivers and bicyclists traveling in an easterly direction. Efforts to have a traffic light installed there (a matter for county officials' decision) have not so far been successful.

Robert Lenz, a veteran now enrolled as a University undergraduate, is serving as the deputy policeman. Equipped with badge and cap, he has been sworn in in that capacity by Princeton Township.

served following the one-hour meeting.

Hun School Spring Events. A Student Council conference and a Spring Festival celebrating The Hun School's 40th year will highlight activities at the school this spring.

Student councils from 30 schools in New Jersey and Pennsylvania will attend a conference at Hun on April 24. The all-day meeting will be presided over by Dr. John F. Sly, a member of the school's board of trustees and director of Princeton Surveys.

A Spring Festival will be held May 8 marking the close of the school's 40th year. The festival, which will be sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary, will be under the chairmanship of Mrs. Walter Hankin of Trenton.

Antiques Sale Next Week. Antique fanciers of the Princeton area will visit Burlington again this year when the Burlington County Y.W.C.A. holds its fifth Antique Mart next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The sale will be held in Burlington's National Guard Armory and will feature the exhibitions of 22 dealers. Refreshments and luncheons will be served in the basement of the armory.

Proceeds from the mart will help supplement the programs of the Y.W.C.A.'s organizations in 22 suburban communities. The association works in rural and industrial districts without the help of Y.W.C.A. buildings.

Huntington Appointed. Thomas F. Huntington of 73 Allison Road has been appointed financial chairman of the Social Service Bureau.

Mr. Huntington is an official of Personal Products of New Brunswick, a deacon of the First Presbyterian Church and a trustee of Roberts College, Istanbul, Turkey. The announcement was made by Gordon D. Griffin, president of the bureau's board of directors.

An increase in the number of families given help by the bureau over the figure at this time last year has been announced by Mrs. Mabel M. Reeves, executive secretary. Mrs. Reeves emphasized that "a serious problem of the Princeton community is the shortage of housing for medium and low income groups. Over-crowding is one of the factors that can produce insecurity and emotional tensions."

Boy Scout Meeting Dates. As an aid to those interested in joining Princeton's Boy Scout program, information concerning date, time and location of scout meetings in this area has been announced by the Stony Brook District Committee.

The committee also announced age groups for the various scouting programs. They are 8 to 11, Cub Scouts; 11 to 14, Boy Scouts; and over 14, Explorer Scouts.

Boy Scout troop meetings are scheduled as follows: Troop 42, Monday, 7 p.m., Second Presbyterian Church; 43, Monday 8 p.m., First Presbyterian Church; 45, Thursday, 7 p.m., Kingston Fire House; 46, Tuesday, 7 p.m., Blawenburg Old Firehouse; 50, Tuesday, 7:30 p.m., Trinity Church.

Troop 56, Tuesday, 7:30 p.m., St. Paul's Church School; 57, Monday, 6 p.m., First Baptist Church; 66, Tuesday, 7:30 p.m., Penns Neck Baptist Church; and 88, Monday, 7:30 p.m., Princeton Methodist Church.

Cub Scout packs: 50, second Wednesday of the month, 7 p.m., Trinity Church; 66, third Friday, 7:30 p.m., Penns Neck School; 77, second Thursday, 7:30 p.m., Valley Road School; and 88, third Tuesday, 7 p.m., Methodist Church.

Explorer Scout meetings: 46, Monday, 7 p.m., Blawenburg Old Firehouse; and 88, first and third Tuesday, 7:30 p.m., Methodist Church.

Radio-TV Workshop Held. The first church-sponsored radio-television workshop in New Jersey, held Monday at Princeton Theological Seminary, drew 100 ministers from all parts of the State. A luncheon was held at the First Presbyterian Church, with the pastor, the Rev. Dr. John R. Bodo, acting as host.

Participants included Herbert W. Hohler of Mercer Road, who demonstrated equipment marketed by Teleprompter, Inc., with which he is associated; Wilbert J. Beeners, Professor of Speech at the Seminary, who conducted a clinic in microphone technique; and L. B. Flory and Gerald Morgan of the RCA Laboratories, whose demonstration of television technique was made possible by Dr. Elmer W. Engstrom, head of the RCA division here.

Y.W.C.A. Activities. Plans for proposed activities of the Princeton Y.W.C.A. in the immediate future have been announced by the organization.

News of the Theatres

ART FILM SERIES

Group Arts' film series on Modern European painting continues with a program on "Impressionism and the Academy" next Wednesday evening. Showings are 7 and 9 in McCosh Hall 10 on the University campus. Single tickets may be obtained at the University Store and at the door, and series tickets at $1 for this and the remaining two programs are still available.

Wednesday's program will include films of the work of Manet, Degas and Toulouse-Lautrec, in rebellion against the restricting standards of the French Academy, as well as a satiric film review of the "official art" at the close of the last century entitled "The Charm of Life." The other remaining programs in the series are "Matisse, Picasso and Braque," April 21, and "The Film as an Art Medium," May 19.

MCCARTER THEATRE

Anna Russell, the international concert comedienne, will give a single performance at McCarter Theatre on Monday, March 29, at 8.30 p.m. Tickets at $3.60, 3.00, 2.40 and 1.80 will go on sale this Monday at the University Store (tel. 3333). Mail orders (which should include a stamped, self-addressed envelope) are being filled now.

Miss Russell has accumulated a host of rave notices in the last year or so on tour in this country and Canada. Audiences with some knowledge of music have an advantage at her "concerts," but her repertoire of spoofs ranges from grand opera to jazz. Miss Russell, who has an extensive background of musical training, found that her serious concert efforts always seemed to wind up in laughter, so she turned to musical satire on a steady basis.

CHILDREN'S SERIES

The community's children will have an opportunity to see a program of American Indian dances, chants and ceremonial customs this Monday at 3:30 in McCarter. The box office will open at 11 a.m., and tickets for the fourth in the series sponsored by the Children's Entertainment Committee of the Borough Elementary Schools PTA are priced at $1.35, 75 cents and 35 cents.

The program will be given by a group of students at Springfield College, who form a "Hosaga tribe" as an extra-curricular activity. They make their own costumes and make-up according to Indian custom. The dances and chants are chosen to show various sides of tribal character and activities.

PRINCETON HIGH SCHOOL

Tickets for Princeton High's production of "The Desert Song" scheduled for Thursday through Saturday, March 25-27, are now on sale at Hinkson's, 74 Nassau Street and at the school. All seats are reserved and are priced at $1.20.

The cast for the Sigmund Romberg musical is headed by Sandra Dinsmore and Donald Smith in the romantic leads of Margot Bonvalet and Pierre Birabeau.

COMMUNITY PLAYERS

The cast for the Community Players' production of "Harvey" will be headed by Herbert McAneny in the role of Elwood P. Dowd, the gentle imbibor and close friend of the six-foot white rabbit, and Mrs. Blackwell Smith as his sympathetic sister (the role created by Josephine Hull).

The Mary Chase comedy hit will open Tuesday, April 6, in Murray Theatre and run through Saturday, the 10th. Tickets go on sale at the University Store this Monday. They are priced at $1.50 for Tuesday through Thursday and $1.80 for Friday and Saturday.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Hell and High Water. (Thurs.-Tues.) is a science fiction film with an atomic warfare twist, set in CinemaScope and Technicolor. A group of private citizens hire Richard Widmark to captain a reconnaissance submarine on a voyage to find out about rumored Russian atom bomb projects on an island above Japan. Numerous hazards turn up along the way.

The picture follows a pretty straight action line and should definitely please enthusiasts of this vein. The able supporting cast includes Bella Darvi (as a a fish design on top. This pattern has been built up to give a has relief. Black boxes have oyster white fish, maroon boxes have them in a saffron yellow. Ash-trays are $3.75 and $5, the box is $16.50.

Pottery flower howls and candle-sticks are made in ivory, light grey and matte black. Candle-sticks are cubes, the flower containers are long, narrow boxes. One is 12 by 3 inches—perfect for a window sill or narrow mantel. Another is 5 by 8 inches, with curving edges.

Other vases in this set are shaped like old-fashioned bath-tubs: curving up at each end. Prices are quite low: $1.50 for the sticks and $2 or $3 for the containers. Pieces are absolutely plain—nothing decorates them but color and form.

Cordial glasses from Denmark, six for $15, are perched on long, twisted rope stems that lift them nine inches from the table. Switzerland sends a place mat of white straw-like fabric, laced with gold or silver. Each one is $1.50. Circular mats of straw come from Italy, medallions of color at $1 each.

For the kitchen, look at Swedish cutlery with rosewood handles, including specialized tools like meat tenderizers, peelers and scrapers. They are $12 and $18 a set for six or eight-pieces. While you're in the kitchen, look at Guernsey jugs in copper, from a baby half-pint up to a quart-size. An Italian water jug, miniature size, is made of copper, too, and would add a bright flash to your kitchen.

Young Orton. Sweaters for boys, 4 to 12 size, in orlon as soft as whipped cream—that's the dish at The Junior Shop, 12 Chambers. They are long-sleeved, V-necked, in mint green or maize. Watch sister grab one.

Denim sets consist of slacks, shorts, jacket, cap in charcoal, faded blue, or cinnamon toast. Jacket is handed at neck, sleeves and bottom with knit rib in white and the jacket color. You can buy two polo shirts, each with a different stripe, to match the color you select—a yellow and charcoal one appealed to us. These clothes are designed for sizes 4 to 12.

Silk ties have been made especially for The Junior Shop in regimental stripes, raw silk for $1.50, finished silk for $1.95.

For Eton age, there is an imported grey flannel, good English fabric, fine cut, for $14.95. And for confirmation, white gabardine or linen suits in sizes four to seven.

A minute denim Eton suit has faded-blue shorts, and blazer has coral, blue and white. Four to seven at $6.95.

lady scientist), Cameron Mitchell, Gene Evans and David Wayne.

Night People (Wed.-Tues.) plays for a week in CinemaScope and something called Technicolor Deluxe. It concerns the efforts of a rich American (Broderick Crawford) to rescue at any cost his son who has been kidnapped by the Russians in Berlin. He tangles with Gregory Peck, playing an American CIC colonel tied up in the more complex aspects of the intrigue. Rita Gam and Anita Bjork lend feminine interest. Not reviewed at press time.

THE GARDEN

Riot in Cellblock 11 (Fri.-Sat.) is a powerful melodrama about a prison riot. The script is exceptional for its restraint, clarity and interest, all of which produce a forceful impression of the mounting tension between prisoners and guards. Along with location-filmed authenticity and the sharp focus of a violent story, the film has an excellent cast of comparative unknowns. Neville Brand is the riot leader and Emile Meyer (who was the leader of the cattlemen in "Shane") is the warden.

She Couldn't Say No (Mon.-Wed.) is a whimsical little story starring Jean Simmons and Robert Mitchum. Miss Simmons plays an oil heiress who descends on a small Arkansas town to spread lavish gifts, thereby producing a stampede of out-of-town no-dos. Mr. Mitchum as an easy-going country doctor is among the local citizenry who get all shaken up about matters. Unpretentious, if trivial.

From Here to Eternity (Thurs.-Sat.) returns for an engagement at regular prices. By the time it gets here it should have acquired a fair number of Oscars from among the 13 categories in which it is entered. The film from the James Jones novel of army life just before Pearl Harbor is a wonderful job from just about every point of view. The stars include Montgomery Clift, Deborah Kerr, Frank Sinatra, Donna Reed and Burt Lancaster.

Music Notes. The Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs will sing the Mass in G minor by Ralph Vaughan Williams under the direction of J. Merrill Knapp at 5:15 Sunday in the gymnasium of Miss Fine's School. Mrs. Mackenty Bryan (tel. 0453, 2 to 5 p.m. weekdays) should be contacted for further information on the meeting.

The University Concerts will conclude for the season with a performance by the Bach Aria Group next Tuesday, March 30, in McCarter Theatre. The highly-esteemed group is under the direction of William Scheide and the membership is headed by Eileen Farrell and Jan Peerce.

SPORTS IN PRINCETON

Veteran Ball Players Back. If Eddie Donovan were as superstitious as some ball players, he would tell you he didn't have a chance of winning the Eastern League Baseball championship this year. Last season, he had a largely inexperienced squad with a pitching staff that had a combined varsity hurling total of 5 1 3 innings. After some rough April going, the Tigers put on a blazing finish and won the title.

This year, Donovan has six of nine regulars back from the 1953 champions, including two pitchers who threw eight shutouts between them. Dick Emery was 9-2 in his sophomore year, compiled an earned run average of 1.61 and pitched a pair of one-hitters against Yale and Harvard. He also blanked Penn over a period of 27 innings, winning successive games of 3-0, 1-0 and 1-0.

Joe Castle was 3-4 for the year but two of his defeats were incurred by one-run margins and all three of his victories were shutouts. His earned run average of 1.75 is solid college pitching. If his control and slow curve hold up, he will ably supplement Emery's work on the mound.

Donovan, entering his third year as head coach, doesn't know exactly what he's got behind this pair of tested veterans. Most likely bet are a couple of sophomores, both southpaws, Jim Gibson and Craig McClelland.

The entire pitching staff will get a good workout in the eight days starting April 3, when seven games are scheduled. Five should be played with any sort of break in the weather, giving Donovan a look at most of them at least twice.

Hitting a Problem Again. While defensive strength is a known factor this season, it is also wholly apparent that greater hitting power must be developed to give the team a good chance of another first-place finish. Last year's outfit, hitting a weak .201, put tremendous strain on the pitching staff. Only the latter's ability to cut the opposition down to .191 made success possible.

Hopes are that Captain Eddie Stimpson, outfielders Gordy Gray and John Easton will climb into the .300 circle. Certainly somebody must come along to replace the punch that Joe Golden delivered last year, when he pounded the ball at a .361 clip. The team leader in runs batted in, Bill Gall, graduated with Golden.

Stimpson is a long ball hitter but was closer to .200 than .300 last year. Gray came along fast, dropping under .300 for the season only when he was held hitless in the final Yale game. Easton is probably the best bet, and can also weigh in with extra base hits. It was his triple that launched the rally in the 4-3 victory over the Elis last June.

A pair of football players may lend strength to the attack. Dick Frye, out of action a year ago following an operation for a shoulder separation, is a candidate for second base. Both Hank Thomay and Jim Perkins, who alternated there last season, are on hand but both had unusually low batting averages and the assignment may well go to the player who can hit.

Roy Flippin, tailback on the football team, is seeking an out-of-the-field berth, with one awaiting him if he develops strength at the plate. Flippin may also be given a trial at second base.

A run-down on the squad by positions will appear next week. N.Y.U. will furnish the first opposition two weeks from Saturday.

Short Notes. Carleton MacDonald was the only member of the wrestling team to reach the finals of the Eastern Intercollegiate at Ithaca. He lost, 4-2, to Pittsburgh's George Beresford. Captain Don Rumsfeld suffered a shoulder injury in losing his semi-final bout and heavyweight Jim MacAlister failed to survive the quarter-finals.

Bud Haasbostad has been elected captain of the basketball team for 1954-55 and also won the Bunn Trophy, which he was first awarded as a sophomore. He is the first player ever to receive this cup twice.

Princetonians will hear of Joe Castle's brother next fall. The Tiger pitcher's brother, Jim, is captain-elect of the Pennsylvania football team and a fine end.
